Martin County, FL – The newest edition of Health Matters is featuring some of Martin County’s youngest residents having fun brushing away tooth decay, new programs available at the historic Golden Gate building, as well as tips for staying healthy during flu season.

The show highlights visits to the Gertrude Walden Child Care Center where children are learning why oral health is important to overall health, the House of Hope and the Golden Gate Center for Enrichment where residents in need find support and empowerment and ways to shoo the flu. The show can be viewed on demand on YouTube: https://tinyurl.com/ybqxnbam

Each episode of Health Matters delivers important health and safety information to residents and is possible thanks to a partnership with Martin County Television (MCTV).
