

You're Invited to a Community Allies Forum

RACE AND HEALTH

Does racism create disparities in public health today in Martin County? If so, how, and what can we do about it?

Friday, November 20th, 2015 6-8pm

Ground Floor Farm 100 SE MLK Blvd Stuart, FL 34994

Doors open at 5:30pm

Light dinner served

All are welcome

Co-sponsored by Martin County
Department of Health and Martin
County Healthy Start Coalition

Panelists:

Liza Breslaw, CNM Certified Nurse Midwife with Martin Health System

Dr. Anita Cocoves, Ph.D., CAP, licensed mental health counselor, Health and Human Services Manager for Martin County Community Services Division

Karlette Peck, MPH, PA Health Officer, Martin County Department of Health

Please join us for a conversation on how race and racism impact public health and access to healthcare in Martin County.

This is the third installment in our series exploring definitions of racism, and how it is made manifest within our own community. Please invite your friends, family, and colleagues! We look forward to a respectful and fascinating discussion.

The first half of the evening will be a panel discussion, followed by a Q&A. The second half will focus on small group discussions, where participants can share their thoughts, personal experiences, and listen with respect.

Our Panelists:

Liza Breslaw, CNM, Certified Nurse Midwife with Martin Health Systems

Dr. Anita Cocoves, Ph.D., CAP, licensed mental health counselor, Health and Human Services Manager for Martin County Community Services Division

Karlette Peck, MPH, PA, Health Officer, Florida Department of Health, Martin County